Thomas Waller Is Speaker For General Meeting Of MWC

Seen & Heard Around MURRAY

Looked out the window early this morning and a young squirrel was sitting up on his back feet on top of a mound of dirt, looking at the house. He was not too perturbed at our looking at him. He was not eating or anything, just sitting there with his front feet held close to him as though he was just looking things over.

After holding this position for some time, he went on across the back of the back yard and around to the front where he dined on Hickory Nuts.

This one was really young and definitely from the Spring crop.

Third oldest got a big kick out of our old high school annual. The pictures of "old Dad" in his high school days brought gales of laughter. At the time we did not think we looked so funny. We thought we were hot stuff.

Felt real bad about not going to the Thursday Club meeting last night. Got home in good shape and told the wife we were going. Took our shoes off and relaxed. She was cooking supper and it smelled pretty good.

You know you get to that point where it is easier to stay where you are than it is to get going to go somewhere else.

Bob Scott tells us that it was a good meeting with 112 people attending membership. This is a good organization designed to put some spark behind the sports program at MSU.

Governor George Wallace is denouncing the Southern Governor's Conference at Kentucky Dam. For the first time in years it appears that circumstances have arisen for a third party to overtake all others. Wallace will attract many voters who are conservative, believe in state's rights, and believe that the Federal government has become too powerful and wields too much influence over the lives of American citizens.

Zeta Department To Open Club Year

Hostesses will be Mrs. Bud Scott, Mrs. Glen C. Hodges, Miss Louise Lamb, Miss Madeline Lamb, and Mrs. James Westberry.

Thomas A. Waller, Paducah attorney, was the featured speaker at the first general meeting of the Murray Woman's Club's new club year.

Waller, an attorney of long standing, was a member of a 50-man committee appointed by Gov. Breathitt, to draft the proposed changes in the 75-year-old Kentucky constitution. The committee was made up of one man from each senatorial district, three men from the state at large, all living ex-governors and the two W. S. Senators. Twenty-two months of hard work and concentrated effort from these 50 dedicated men has produced a much needed revision of an out-of-date document, he said.

Mr. Waller said that in the past 50 years mankind had made more progress than in all of history before, and this is the primary reason for updating the 75-year-old present constitution.

The speaker said that the Bill of Rights is incorporated in the proposed new constitution exactly as it appears in the old one, except that there are three additional provisions.

Mr. Waller also stated that the RRA, the Kentucky Bankers Assn., all Kentucky college presidents, Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs have all approved the new constitution. He said that adoption of the new document lies primarily with the women of the state and the college students because they are the citizens who have taken the time to study it. He was impressed by the fact that the ladies in last night's audience had studied the brochure which (Continued On Page Three)

Surveyor II To Attempt Soft Landing

By AL ROSSITER Jr.
United Press International
CAPE KENNEDY 1966 — The United States rocketed its second Surveyor lunar landing robot on a picture-taking expedition toward the moon, to spot the center of the Apollo astronaut landing zone.

The 2,294-pound spacecraft was attempting to match the flawless soft landing of Surveyor 1 June 13, but was headed toward a more difficult approach into a rougher, crater-scarred area, on the moon's surface.

Surveyor 2, nearly identical to the widely acclaimed predecessor, raced into the early morning sky at 8:32 a.m. EDT on the nose of an Atlas-Centaur rocket. The launch met its 36-minute firing period with only 27 seconds to spare.

If the spidery spacecraft duplicates the performance of Surveyor 1, it will lower itself gently onto the moon's Sinus Medii — the Middle Bay — at 10:53 a.m. EDT Thursday, September 22, aiming point is about 900 miles east of Surveyor 1's resting site on the ocean of storms.

Four minutes after the fiery blastoff, the launch control center reported that the booster's high-powered Centaur upper stage took over as planned, pushing its payload on its 63-hour voyage toward the moon.

"All systems are looking good at this time," the space agency reported six minutes after launch. Surveyor 2's main job is to flash thousands of detailed closeup pictures of the lunar landscape back to earth to help Apollo planners select sites for the first manned lunar landing attempt in two or three years.

As a spectacular bonus, program manager Benjamin Mitwitsky said Surveyor 2's three steering engines should be fired a few days after landing in a historic attempt to have the spacecraft hop a few inches to a new resting point. Its camera would then photograph the imprint left by one of its three legs during the initial landing.

Surveyor 2's target is a small plain located almost in the exact center of the moon's visible face and is in the middle of the wide belt of potential Apollo astronaut landing sites.

"We're very anxious to know whether the characteristics of this small mare sea are anything like what we experienced in Oceanus Procellarum Ocean of Storms," Mitwitsky said before launch.

Raiders Say They're Repeat Of Last Year

By JOE GREEN

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 — Defending national champion Michigan State and high-scoring UCLA, rivals in the Rose Bowl game last Jan. 1, today finished one two in the first weekly United Press International major college football ratings.

Michigan State, which landed on top of the UPI ratings last year only to have a perfect season marred by the Bruins on New Year's Day, was back in its accustomed No. 1 position after crushing North Carolina State 26-10 Saturday in its opening game.

The mountaineer Spartans received 14 first-place votes and 270 points from the 35-man UPI board of coaches to nine and 200 for the runner-up Bruins.

UCLA, the surprise team of 1965 when it captured the Athletic Association of Western Universities title and finished fifth in the ratings, opened its season in overpromising fashion with a 97-14 bludgeoning of hapless Pittsburgh.

One other AAWU school and two of Michigan State's rivals for the Big Ten crown also cracked the top 10. Southern California, minus the sensational Mike Garrett, was third and Michigan, and Purdue, ranked sixth and seventh, respectively.

USC, whose last-minute defeat to the cross-town Bruins in 1965 cost the Trojans a trip to the Rose Bowl, showed a rugged defense at Texas in its opener and earned with a 106-0 triumph. The Trojans collected two first place votes and 186 points.

Michigan, a 31-0 winner over Oregon State, received 152 points to 119 for Purdue, which needs Notre Dame in a nationally televised contest Saturday at South Bend, Ind. The Irish are tied for 12th in the ratings with Georgia Tech.

Alabama and Nebraska, Orange Bowl rivals nine months ago, were fourth and fifth. The Crimson Tide, who were adjudged the No. 1 team by five coaches, have yet to play this season while Nebraska struggled to a 14-10 victory over Texas Christian last Saturday. Nebraska was third in the first 1965 ratings while Alabama was fourth.

Florida, Arkansas and Missouri filled out the elite group in eighth, ninth and 10th places, respectively. Florida and Missouri each polished off a Big Ten club in their first games and Arkansas rallied for a 14-10 win over Oklahoma State.

Baylor's passing game, who bombed Syracuse two weeks ago, topped the second 10 in 11th place while another Southwest Conference team, Southern Methodist, occupied 14th.

Miami of Florida rode a stunning 24-3 victory over Colorado into 16th place while southeastern conference clubs occupied three of the last five positions. Louisiana State ranked 16th with Tennessee 17th and Mississippi 19th.

Ohio State, which doesn't open its season until this Saturday, was 18th and Washington 20th.

Michigan received two first-place votes and Florida, Notre Dame and Southern Methodist, which routed Illinois 26-7, each was awarded one apiece.

The Spartans, who are not eligible for the Rose Bowl this season because of a conference rule, returned approximately two-thirds of that championship team, including fleet offensive back Clinton Jones and Bob Aples. MSU did loose its outstanding quarterback, Steve Jany, but his replacement, Jimmy Raye, set up two touchdowns and scored.

Don Drysdale The Latest To Be Tagged 'Sweet Lou' This Season

By FRED McMANE

UPI Sports Writer
Don Drysdale is the latest volunteer to record "The Ballad of Sweet Lou."

The nickname "Sweet Lou" is one of the Dodgers players have tagged on Lou Johnson, the journeyman outfielder who came to the club last season after Tommy Davis was injured and played a major role in helping Los Angeles win the National League pennant and World Series.

Johnson, whose hustle and enthusiasm epitomizes the Dodgers team, has played regularly this season and has produced many game-winning hits, especially during this past week.

Gaude Gesteau benefitted from two Johnson homers to lead the New York Mets on Sept. 19 and Sandy Koufax was treated to a three-run homer by Johnson as he set down the Pittsburgh Pirates on Sept. 16.

The 33-year-old outfielder got a board Drysdale's handwagon Monday night by slugging two more homers and driving in a third run with a single as Los Angeles held on to its one and one-half game lead with a 5-1 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Pirates upended the San Francisco Giants 10-1 in 11 innings and the New York Mets beat the Houston Astros 1-0 in 10 innings in the only other NL action.

Orioles Trim Angels

The league-leading Baltimore Orioles trimmed the California Angels 3-1-9 in the only American League game.

Roberto Clemente hit his 26th homer and Bob Bailey followed moments later with a grand slam homer as the Pirates rallied for five runs in the 11th inning to defeat the Giants for the second straight day. The loss dropped San Francisco four games off the pace in the pennant race.

Shut Out Astros

Bob Shaw buried a four-hitter in winning his 11th game against 13 losses as the Mets beat the Astros for the ninth time this year. New York, held to just one hit through the first nine innings by Chris Zachary, pushed across the game's only run in the 10th on a single by Ed Kranepool, a double by Cleon Jones and a wild pitch by reliever Carroll Sember.

Frank Robinson, trying to become the first player to win the triple crown since 1956, drove in five runs with a double and his 46th homer as the Orioles moved to within four games of clinching their first AL pennant in 13 years. Robinson's double broke an 8-8 tie in the sixth inning and helped reliever Moe Drabowsky notch his sixth victory. Jack Sanford suffered the loss.

Robinson had two hits in the game to boost his average to .311 and tie him with Minnesota's Tony Oliva for the league lead. He boosted his league-leading RBI total to 113 and his 46 homers, which also leads the league, tied the Baltimore club record set by Jim Gentile in 1961.

Miss Yvette Sophie Van Heule Becomes Bride Of Philip Stiles Sparks In Belgium

Philip Stiles Sparks, son of Dr. and Mrs. Harry M. Sparks of Frankfort, was married to Yvette Sophie Van Heule on September 10, at St. Peter's Church in Brussels, Belgium.

State superintendent of public instruction, Dr. Sparks, who attended the wedding of his son, was accompanied by his wife, brother, and sister-in-law. His brother, Robert Sparks, is the chairman of the Lexington board of education. The Sparks party will tour Geneva, Rome, Nice, and Madrid.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Van Heule, 115 Rue de la Station, Brussels, Belgium.

Rex Father, Nys, of Brussels performed the ceremony.

Following a wedding trip to the German Alps, the couple will reside at 113 Rue de la Station in Brussels until January, 1967, after which they will return to Murray.

The bride's princess gown was of white honeycomb Belgian cotton trimmed with a single panel of handmade Belgian lace and extended into a full-length train.

The illusion veil, which was held to the bride's headpiece by flowers of cord lace, also extended the length of the train.

In Belgium it is not the custom to have bridesmaids. The bride was attended by her eldest brother, Jon Claude Van Heule.

Immediate families entered in procession, the bride on the arm of her father, the groom with his mother, the bride's mother and groom's father together, and then the brothers and sisters.

The ceremony was read in both French and English.

The wedding, which was conducted at high noon was followed first by a reception, then a dinner for the families of the bride and the groom and in the evening a dance party, all at the home of the bride's parents.

When I asked that child, "WHAT on earth is the matter with you?" his mother appeared horrified that I could use that tone on her child. Why do people take their untrained, ill-mannered children in public places and turn them loose drinking again. Abby, I love my mother, despite all the heartaches she has caused our whole family. I have begged, pleaded, cried, and prayed, but it hasn't done any good. Mother says she loves us and would do anything for us, but she still drinks.

She has lost two husbands and four children from drinking. Dear Abby, can you help a girl who—

LOVES HER MOTHER

DEAR GIRL: Try to persuade your mother to seek the help of Alcoholics Anonymous. They are listed in your telephone book. Thousands of alcoholics have found this to be the only hope for sobriety.

There is also an organization called "ALATEEN" for teen-agers who have parents with a drinking problem. Investigate it. Perhaps thru them you can learn how to help your mother. Good luck, honey.

DEAR ABBY: I have a 13-year-old sister who is too clean. If someone sneezes near her, she will run out of the room or hold her breath. If someone touches her food, she won't eat it. She sterilizes her toothbrush everytime she goes to use it. She won't use a hand towel if anyone else has touched it. When we go anywhere, she won't touch doorknobs or railings with her bare hands. The whole family has told her she is being ridiculous. Is she?

DEAR SIS: Your sister should talk to a psychiatrist about her notions. Those who have a morbid fear of "dirt" or germs are called "mysophobic," an emotional abnormality.

—CONFIDENTIAL TO "POINT OF INFORMATION": No, it is never proper to say, on being introduced, "I've met you before." Even if you have, and the other party has forgotten, it's more gracious to act as tho it were the first meeting.

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply, inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Parents at Fault —Not the Kids

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Last Saturday my husband and I went shopping. One couple there had turned their three children loose. One child narrowly missed me with her flying foot, flung out behind her.

She was just kicking her legs around for the sheer fun of it. Another child came charging toward me and stamped squarely on my foot. (I was wearing sandals and my foot ached half that night.)

When I asked that child, "WHAT on earth is the matter with you?" his mother appeared horrified that I could use that tone on her child. Why do people take their untrained, ill-mannered children in public places and turn them loose
